

Anti-social Behaviour

We understand how much upset can be caused by harassment from a person or a group of people in the community. You do not have to put up with it. Leeds City Council's Anti-social Behaviour Unit will help anyone who is suffering from persistent and serious anti-social behaviour.

This can include:

Persistent verbal abuse (swearing, shouting) or threats

Assault or physical violence

Racial harassment

Homophobic harassment

Damage to property or graffiti

Vandalism near your home

If you are experiencing anti-social behaviour, contact Leeds City Council.

If you are a council tenant, please tell your local housing office as soon as possible if a neighbour is causing a nuisance.
